

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a gas turbine component, namely static gas turbine component, especially for an aircraft engine. According to the invention, the static gas turbine component is 5 formed at least region-wise of metal foam.